TYPICAL SPECIFICATION

With totally natural refrigerants the Bluepura Tower is an ecological choice. The unit is made entirely of stainless steel, and can be combined with many of our under-counter units.

The high-quality stainless steel buttons can be programmed to dispense a specific amount of water, using the optional portion control feature on the MIX model.

Our under-counter units have an understated, functional presence within the units of any kitchen, or in the coffee-break area of any office. Each model is installed with a Dry Cooling system - innovative direct cooling technology with serpentine water coils (stainless steel) and refrigerant gas coils (copper), housed within a single aluminium cast. The Dry Cooling system guarantees reduced dimensions, while maintaining professional cooling performance.

UNDER-COUNTER FEATURES

- Easy to inspect interior
- Made entirely from stainless steel
- Pump protection system in the absence of the water supply
- Available in various output options, see next page for details
